Gould's Academy.

TO PATRONS AND FRIENDS.

With the commencement of the last year, a different course of study and discipline has been adopted. No student is retained a day longer than he is willing to devote the regular hours of study closely to that object. The results have been the most gratifying, and we can confidently invite the patronage of all who are willing to comply cheerfully with our regulations. In the discipline of the school, we act on the principle, that no one can ever learn to govern others successfully, who does not first learn to obey. We believe that the application of these principles has been appreciated by the students during the past year, quite as well as by parents and guardians. We think it advisable for parents to withdraw their children from the school, when circumstances are such that they cannot attend with a good degree of regularity. With a Board of experienced and accomplished Teachers, it is believed that the advantages for a solid education are here enjoyed to as great an extent as in similar Institutions in this State.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

This Institution was founded in the year 1836, by the liberality of the inhabitants of Bethel, and has been in successful operation since that time. A valuable donation was subsequently bequeathed to the Institution, by the late Rev. Daniel Gould, from which it receives its name. In 1852, a half township of land was granted by the State, which has been carefully and successfully managed for the interests of the Institution. The income is such as to furnish an annual appropriation for apparatus, instruction, and improvements on the building. The building is situated in the village at Bethel Hill, one hundred rods from the Station of the Grand Trunk Railway.

For beauty of location, romantic scenery, purity of air and water, its entire exemption from the damp easterly winds of the seacoast, and for the moral and intelligent character of its population, it will compare favorably with any other situated in New England. Special attention is given to those fitting for College, Teaching, or the Counting Room. Facilities are furnished to young ladies, such as shall give them a thorough education in the solid and ornamental branches.

In the government and course of instruction, such methods will be employed as shall stimulate to exertion, induce habits of thorough and patient study, and expand and discipline the intellectual and moral powers. We wish it, however, to be distinctly understood, that this school is not designed as a House of Reformation. The experience of many years has taught us, that where children are unwilling to comply with parental authority at home, or have contracted idle and dissolute habits, it is useless to send them here with the expectation of their making any improvement. For such we have no accommodations; while for those who have no other object in view than hard study, and an earnest desire for improvement, every thing possible will be done to render their situation pleasant and profitable.

A daily register is kept of all marked delinquencies, and forwarded to parents and guardians, when requested, at the middle and close of each term, and no student will be retained who persists in a violation of the regulations of the school. The studious and orderly scholar will here find an intelligent community always ready to encourage him in every thing praiseworthy.

It will be the constant aim of the Principal, to secure a systematic and thorough course of instruction in every department of the school. It is therefore of vital importance to the student, that he be present at the opening of the term, when the regular classes are formed. A course of study is marked out from one, to three or more years, according to the age and attainments of the pupil.

During the Spring and Fall Terms, classes are formed in Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic, in which students are daily drilled with special reference to becoming teachers of common schools. The best methods of teaching are pointed out, and a careful review of the whole ground is passed over during each term. A large number of teachers have availed themselves of this course with much profit to themselves. Lectures are frequently delivered on the best methods of teaching and managing schools. Greater prominence will be given to this department of the school than heretofore.

None will be received who have contracted vicious habits. Those under sixteen years of age are generally preferred. Application must first be made by letter to the Principal.
